THE FIRST WAND MILITARY MERTING LAST Night—The First Warders Grow Patriotic— Another Military Company Organized— Eighty Names Enrolled—Officers, &c.

In pursuance of the published call, the citi zens of the first ward assembled in large num-bers last night at the house adjoining Winder's building, an Seventeenth street, to take steps towards the organization of a military compa-ny in the first ward, to act in conjunction with those now being organized in the other wards.

The meeting was called to order by Mr.

James Kelly, who proposed the name of Capt.

Fielder R. Dorset as chairman of the meeting. The vote being taken, Capt. Dorset was de-clared elected as the presiding officer. Upon taking the chair, Capt. Dorset returned est sincere thanks for the honor that had been conferred upon him. He proceeded to state the object of the meeting, though he presumed there were very few who did not well understand the causes that had brought them together. Anarchy and confusion had begun to make their appearance in our land. Our own city had been threatened with destruction by outside mobs. It was time for the citizens the Metropolis to come forth in defence of as secretary of the meeting.

The roll was then opened, and all who de-The roll was then opened, and all who desired to join the proposed movement were requested to come torward and enroll their names. Many persons eagerly accepted the invitation, and for a time the secretary's deak was completely besieged, he himself being compelled to seek refuge behind a leg of the table.

In a few moments, Mr. James Kelly arose and announced that Gen. Edward C. Carrington had just arrived, and was now in the room. Loud calls were then made for Carrington, accompanied by hearty cheers.

Gen. Carrington then came forward, and, after the cheering had partially subsided, proceeded to address the meeting.

He explained the object of the meeting in a patriotic and eloquent speech, at the conclusion of which he was greeted with tumultuous applause and cries of "Go on!" "Go on!"

Gen. C. continued by saying he had not been well for some time past, and did not feel able. But he added, that if those who enlisted in this movement should feel disposed to run, they could not do it. It was merely a question as to whether the people would form military organizations of their own, or be forced into those of the Government. The militie would be organ ized, and then every man would be forced into the ranks nolens volens.

A Voice. Stick it to them, General. Gen.C. continued. With five thousand Washingtonians, he could whip fifteen thousand of the loudest-talking secessionists that ever bellowed. [Vociferous applause.]

He stated that he held in his hand a series of resolutions, adopted at the meeting held in the third ward the night before, which he would read. Those who desired to subscribe to them. altering the word "third," and inserting the first ward, would then have an opportunity of doing so. Every man who signed would be supposed to endorse the resolutions, and pledge his honor to the faithful carrying out of their spirit.

[The General then read the resolutions.

They are the same as reported in the National Republican of yesterday. They were received with much applause.]

Still another voice. And I propose three more for the stars and stripes.

Three more cheers rang out from the large assemblage, reverberating through the old hall.

Another voice. Now, let's have three groans

The request was complied with, and the groans were given.

A motion was then made and carried, that the meeting proceed to the election of officers of the proposed company.

General Carrington was again loudly called for, and made a few additional remarks. He said that the people of this city were determined, if necessary, to fight for their firesides and their homes. If they would not fight, their wives would fight for them. Senators and Repreongress 4th of March next, civil war would be upon us. Secession was an appeal to the bad passions of men. He had understood—he hoped it was not so—[A voice, "It is so"]—that a secret organization was in existence to prevent the in-auguration of Mr. Lincoln, and to plunge the assassin's dagger into his beart.

Let them organize; they could do nothing without organization. He did not wish to shed American blood upon American soil. But whether they had to fight or not, let them show that they were willing to do it if it were necessary. To arms! To arms! Be ready when sary. To arms! To arms! The chairman stated that he wished all those present would honor his fiftieth birthday, which uld take place on the 4th of March, by parading in uniform on that day. Would they permit the Capitol of the United States to be taken? He hoped they would, with Jackson, answer-" No, by the eternal, never!'

James Kelly was then unanimously elected as captain of the company. The announcement was received with loud and prolonged cheering, with cries of "Speech! Speech!"

Mr. Kelly said they all knew he had never ade a speech. A voice, "Make one now, then."

He would assure them that it might be ne cessary to go through a series of risks. In the hour of danger he would not be found wanting. Nominations for first lieutenant being called for, William J. Herbert and Joseph B. Moore were then placed in nomination.

Mr. Moore withdrew his name, and Mr. Herbert was unanimously elected.

Mr. Herbert is the gentleman who captured the Mexican General, Bravo, at the battle of

Mr. Herbert then took the stand, and delivered the following very emphatic speech:

The first ballot resulted as follows: Jewell, 43; Moore, 26. And Dr. Jewell was declared

Dr. Jewell remarked, that he was really astonished at the course of the company, in choosing him one of their lieutenants. He hoped there would be no use for their services; but if there was, he would be found fighting for the Union.

The vote was then taken for third lieutenant, with the following result: W. H. Hines, 50; Joseph B. Moore; 11; F. T. Wilson, 3; James Calvert, 1.

Mr. Hines was declared to be elected. Three more deafening cheers then rang rough the hall, with the usual call for a speech,

Mr. Hines didn't understand speech making, but when the time came, he would be thar. Mr. Samuel E. Donglas then moved that the officers already elected shall be empowered to choose those yet to be elected.

Captain Kelly would be willing to take the responsibility of recommending, but not of appointing. He moved to amend by inserting

THE FOURTH WARD MEETING LAST NIGHT .-The Metropolitan Rifles in the Field.—Another enthusiastic meeting of this new corps was held last night in the hall of the Metropolitan Hook and Ladder Company. Allen, as captain, which was made unanimous, and Mr. Allen conducted to the chair amid loud and tumultous applause. After the applause had subsided, Mr. Allen, in a few neat and appropriate remarks, thanked the meeting for the honor conferred upon him, in which he pledged himself to maintain the integrity of the Union and to die fighting in defence of the stars and stripes of this their common country, and in the preservation of their homes and firesides in the District of Captain-M. D. Corse. First Lieutenant-Arthur Herbert. Second Lieutenant—D. Kemper. Third Lieutenant—W. H. Fowle, jun. Surgeon-H. Snowden, M. D. First Sergeant-W. Zimmerman.

Second Sergeant-G. Siggers.
Seventy-eight men have already enrolled themselves as members of the company, and the list is increasing every meeting night. A uniform has been selected, which will soon be completed. The flag of Virginia has been adopted as the ensign, and the captain has pro-ceeded to Richmond to make arrangements for procuring the necessary arms and equipments.

Public Schools .- The Board of Trustees of the Public Schools of this city held their regular monthly meeting last evening, in the Hall of the Board of Aldermen, Dr. Welsh, the The journal of last meeting was read and

On motion of Dr. Harbaugh, Mr. Daniels was permitted to hold a concert with the chil-dren of the Third District School.

The Treasurer presented several bills from the different districts, which had been approved; and they were ordered to be paid.

Dr. Ironside, of the Committee on Text Books, reported a series of resolutions in reference to supplying indigent scholars with books ence to supplying indigent scholars with books and stationery, upon which he made some re-marks, urging the propriety of purchasing them of the lowest bidder. He did not suppose the Treasurer would advertise for such supplies without proper precaution being taken, in order that the most judicious expenditure may be

Dr. Willett would like to see the purchases imited to Washington dealers.

Mr. Abert would act for a corporation as or himself. He would purchase where he could do the best. He preferred to patronize Washington dealers, if he could do as well with them as elsewhere.

The resolutions were adopted. Mr. Abert reported on the case of the communication of Mr. J. Johnson, and also one from Mrs. Skidmore, in relation to insubordipation in school. It was urged, that only in case of decided reform the pupil referred to in the communica-tion should be reinstated in school. Dr. Willett contended that preference should be given to the most needy.

Dr. Ironside thought that the pupil under consideration should remain suspended until evident reformation.

After a lengthy discussion, on motion, it was ordered that the child remain suspended until further action of the General Board.

On motion, the Board adjourned. LECTURE ON JAPAN .- Rev. Varnum D. Collius, who is now filling the pulpit of the Assembly's Church, will this evening deliver a lecture on Japan, for the benefit of the library of the Sabbath School attached to that church. Mr. Collins possesses rare qualifications as a lecturer, and, in addition thereto, has the advantage of having been a very extensive trav-eller. In addition to the lecture, we are informed that some very fine musical talent have volunteered, and will sing a variety of sacred music. The object is a worthy one, the exer-cises will be of the most interesting character, and we advise all who can to go.

ARRESTS FOR INCENDIARISM .-- On Monday ARRESTS FOR INCENDIARISM.—On Monday night, at the fire of Mrs. Davis's stable, on the Navy Yard, three boys, named James Gates, Theodore Gates, and Thomas Sweeny, were arrested on suspicion of having set fire thereto. They were brought out for examination before Justice Cull, yeaterday afternoon. The two former proved that, at the time of the alarm of fire thereto. fire, they were two squares distant, and were DIPHTHERIA is prevailing to a considerable extent in our city and the adjacent country, and is attended with much fatality. We learn that a farmer, named Swain, residing near Bladensburg, out of a family of seven children, in the short space of two weeks has lost four with this fatal complaint. The fatality of the dis tails complaint. The fatality of the dis-ease appears to be greater in the rural districts than in the city, where the deaths, according to the last monthly report of the Board of Health, do not reach five per cent. In the country the per centage is much larger.

INQUIRY .- Would not two certain police offi-cers, stationed in the fifth ward, be better engaged in the discharge of their duties, and in going the rounds of their respective beats, than in discussing politics and advocating secessio in lager beer saloons?

MEETING IN THE SIXTH WARD TO-NIGHT. The citizens of the sixth ward are requested to meet at Odd Fellows Hall, (Navy Yard,) for the purpose of forming a volunteer company, simi-lar to others now being formed in other wards.

CELEBRATION OF THE EIGHTH OF JANUARY. -The anniversary of the battle of New Orleans was celebrated with considerable spirit in this city yesterday. At early dawn a salute of thirty-three guns was fired in front of the Columbian Armory, by the members of the National Guard battalion. At noon, in accordance with an order issued to Major Ramsey by the War Department, a salute of one hundred guns was fired in front of the Armory by the guns was fired in front of the Armory by the artillery attached to the arsenal, with four pounders. WASSINGTON THEATRE. - During the two nights that Mr. Hackett has been performing at the Theatre here, that building has been filled almost to overflowing. When Mr. Hackett last performed in Washington, six or seven years ago, he was then acknowledged as the best living comedian in his peculiar line; but since that time, to our mind, he has greatly improved and well deserves the request of the proved, and well deserves the rounds of apclause he so frequently receives.

ACCIDENT .- Yesterday morning a colored man, in the employ of a Mr. Hills, of Prince George's county, Maryland, while riding a vicious horse in the neighborhood of the new Catholic cemetery, on the Baltimore turnpike, was thrown therefrom, breaking his arm and otherwise injuring himself.

THE "NIGHT-LINERS."-The gang of night hackmen, who pursue their calling on the cor-ner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue, instead of being a convenience, are becoming a nuisance to the neighborhood and to passers by that locality late at night. Scarcely a night passes, in which the peace and quiet of the neighborhood is not disturbed by their drunken revels, or travellers insulted by their loud and profane remarks. Conspicuous among the gang figures a patriarchal-looking individual—quite celebrated in his way-whose arrest for drunk-enness we noticed yesterday, and who seems to be the ruling spirit of the crowd, and the ringleader in every outrage perpetrated by his com-panions in arms. The police, it would seem, pay no attention to them, and the night-liners are likely to have full sway in the neighbor-
